'They Call'

Dispatch from m says a Portuguese lady bull married a lion-hunter. The was cheered— they still do know who's the best man.

Nervous and mobile customer is always running past my window on South Walnut st. to feed the parking meter. I had an idea this morning that the not manufacture nickel in a parking meter with a slow fuse, in enough and drop a nickel every four seconds.

November 6, 1951. The Associated Press reviewed the new Arkansas place names. "Call It" by Storm Whaley of Little Rock.

Mr. Whaley, manager of Radio Station KUOA, and vice-president of John Brown university, writes me from Siloam Springs as follows:

"Dear Friend Washburn: I have just read your very nice editorial comment on the pronunciation guide. You are right. It is a shame that pronunciations are corrupted through the usage of years. It is an interesting and true idea, too, that radio has had a tendency to standardize our speech.

"As a sort of idealist, it was tough on me to write down the pronunciation guide. I am not, as they should be, but I didn't know what else to do. The present generally-accepted pronunciations are with us, and a poor unfortunate radio announcer has an audience which seems strangely intolerant of the sounding of place-names. Thanks again for your comments, STORM WHALEY."

I know what Mr. Whaley's talking about. During the El Dorado oil boom, nearly 30 years ago, I saw people pour in from all over the United States, and their correct pronunciation of the old Spanish names as "El Do Rod O" infuriated the old settlers. Local usage holds that the name is "El Do RA-Do."

Snow, Sleet Moves Into Arkansas

By The Associated Press

Snow, sleet, freezing temperatures moved into Arkansas Monday and Tuesday on the heels of last week's unseasonal cold snap—one of the earliest on record.

Snow and sleet pelted several points in the northern half of the state Monday. Freezing rain and heavy downpours accompanied by dropping temperatures hit the southern areas.

Northwest Arkansas was the hardest hit. Sleet glazed over several sections in the Ozark mountains. Some highways were covered by ice.

The Arkansas state police said traffic moving north of Harrison and north of Fayetteville had been slowed to a snail's pace. None of the roads have been closed but the highways are considered dangerous.

All northbound buses had been halted at Fort Smith Monday night because of the icy roads. Southbound bus service was halted at Joplin, Mo., because of a heavy snowstorm there.

Ice snapped trees at Springfield late Monday. A power failure left that city without electricity for about 10 minutes.

Snow and sleet also hit Harrison. Snow was reported at Mammoth Spring, At West Plains, Mo., just across the line from Mammoth Spring, a six inch snow was reported.

The U.S. weather bureau at Little Rock said the cold wave is part of a storm that moved into the U.S. from Canada. The weather bureau said Sunday that the storm wouldn't hit Arkansas; a warm front moving up from the gulf was expected to shield the state from the wintry blast.

However, the forecasts changed signals later and said Arkansas would feel the effects of the cold wave for a couple of days longer.

The freezing rain is expected to damage late cotton crops in east Arkansas.

Miles McPeak of Little Rock, statistician for the U.S. department of agriculture, said last week that a freeze would destroy or damage the late blooming cotton.

Many of Arkansas' rivers and streams also are expected to rise as a result of the rain, sleet and snow. No damage is expected, however.

Markets

By The Associated Press

Grain prices were steady today. Hog prices were mostly steady to twenty-five cents higher while cattle were steady.

Markets were closed in some cities because of election day. Grains held at about yesterday's close in early Chicago Board of Trade dealings today.

Traders were inclined to mark time until expected export business developed.

Corn was up minor fractions on anticipated heavy feeding until the present storm abates.

Practically Nobody Bothers to Vote Here

Voting was practically nonexistent today in a general election which showed less than 30 ballots cast in the entire city up to 1 p.m. A check at 10:30 a. m. to a revealed no votes cast in any of the three city precincts.

Most people were simply not interested as there is no election to any of the democratic offices listed on the ballot.

By The Associated Press
Voters in Arkansas' cities of the first class and incorporated towns today were electing mayors and other officials and deciding on such municipal questions as:

1. Parking meters,
2. Annexation of property,
3. Bond issues, and
4. Property tax.

Cold, rainy weather slowed and sleet in some sections. A lack of interest in unexcused excuses are expected to keep voters to a minimum in several cities.

However, at Little Rock heavy balloting was expected because of the spirited bid a Republican has made for elections as mayor.

It is the first time in modern history that the GOP has had a candidate for mayor of Little Rock. Pratt C. Remmel, 38-year-old insurance executive, is the Republican candidate. He is opposing Sam Wassell, Democratic nominee seeking his third term.

At first the Democrats took Remmel's campaign lightly but the Republican party nominee's campaigning caused some last minute concern. Over the weekend Wassell made public appeal for support, appeared on the radio and had advertisements in newspapers.

Veteran politician observers said it was the first time that a Democratic nominee for a municipal post in Little Rock has had to campaign for the general election.

A proposal to annex about 5.2 square miles of property east of the present city limits also was on the ballot in Little Rock.

Voters at Rogers, Springdale and Malvern were voting on proposed installation of parking meters.

Batesville voters marked their ballots on whether they wanted the city to issue $60,000 in bonds to build a municipal swimming pool and park. A proposal seeking repeal of the city garbage pick-up system also was on the ballot.

At Texarkana, voters were asked to decide on a one mill property tax to support a city library.

Girl Scouts to Hold Radio Quiz

Auction to Sell $700 in Merchandise

Tonight is the night for the first Radio Auction of merchandise ever to be held in Southwest Arkansas. The event is the Hope Lions Club Radio Auction over KXAR beginning at 7 p.m.

Over $700.00 worth of merchandise has been donated by the generous merchants and business men in Hope. This merchandise will be thoroughly described over KXAR tonight, and then the Lions Club will receive all bids by telephone.

Three special telephones have been installed in the KXAR main studio to handle the expected calls from persons bidding on the auction items. You need to dial only one number to ring any of the three telephones. The number to call when making bids is 7-4671.

This is the only number that will be used for bids. The regular KXAR phone number must not be used as this phone must be kept open for emergency calls.

The Lions Club is anxious to have everyone possible to take part in this Radio Auction as they feel they will be getting fine merchandise at very reasonable prices, and all money received will go into the Lions Christmas relief fund.

The entire Lions Club will be at KXAR tonight to help in the presentation of the program and in making deliveries. All merchandise that is auctioned off will be delivered in a matter of minutes to the successful bidder, and collection will be made at that time. Either Checks or cash will be acceptable.

The auction will work something like this: If a blanket is going to be auctioned off, that blanket will be described in detail, who gave it, and its normal retail price will be given. Then you'll be asked to bid on it. No opening bid will be given other than the first person who completes a call to 7-4671. As each call comes in, the Lions Club will tell who has bid on the merchandise, and how much their bid is. If you think it is worth more than that to you, then you just dial 7-4671 and give your name, address, and how much you would give for it. If your bid is high, then the item will be delivered to your door tonight, and the Lions Club will collect for it. Due to the large number of different items, about 125 in all, it is hoped that when making bids you'll not just raise the bid a few cents — but rather make a bid that you feel will buy the merchandise or as high as you would go.

If you get the busy signal when you dial 7-4671, you will know that all three phones are busy. Then wait a few minutes and place another call. You will be given ample time to place calls before the item is sold.

In addition to those already mentioned, donations have been received from the following:

Crescent Drug, Hamm Tire and Appliance, $5.95 kitchen clock, Stewart's Grocery, $5 box of groceries, Hamm Motor Company, $3.75 gallon of Prestone, Laha Cleaners, $5 cash, Bruner-Ivory Handle Co., $15 cash, James and Moore Cleaners, $5 worth of cleaning service, Hickory Floor Sweep 100 pounds of floor sweep.

Hope Builder's Supply, 2 gallons of paint, Cox Foundry, cash donation, Meyer's Bakery $3.50 fruit cake.

Have your dial set at 1490 to-night at 7 o'clock . . . that's KXAR on which the Lions Radio Auction will be conducted. All radio time, talent, and facilities in addition to each piece of merchandise has been donated so that all money will go into the Lions Christmas Relief fund. To make bids . . . Dial 7-4671.

Washington Negro Tricked Out of $196

D. D. Chenham, negro of Washington, D. C., reported to City Police that two unidentified negroes tricked him out of $196 yesterday at the downtown MOP depot.

Officers said it was the old "pig-dog dropping" game where a purse containing money is found by two men. The victim is let in on the find and they agree to split the money. "Faith" money is put up by each man. One man goes off with the loot to be changed and soon his pal goes off looking for him.

The victim is left with an envelope containing some money but in yesterday's case it was all play money.

Just Don't Believe Marriage Doesn't Change Men—Its the Wife That Doesn't Change

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP) — One of the things wives always say to their husbands on wedding anniversary is:

"Marriage hasn't changed you a bit."

They could pronounce this sentence in a way to make it sound flattering. But usually it has a note of resignation in it, as if they were discussing the Long Island railroad, which changes about as much as the Washington monument.

This is my own fourteenth wedding anniversary. And though I know that marriage has changed me, I know that sometime during the celebration Frances will say, rather wistfully:

"But, you know, marriage hasn't changed you a bit. You're just the same as you were the day we were married."

And that will sound odd to me, as it does to most husbands. We don't know just what our wives really expected us to turn into, but we do know that marriage has been a soft cocoon of change. Certainly we aren't the same as we were in our bachelor prime — er, I mean time.

What are some of the changes? Well, one man's story:

When I was single I used to have to turn off the alarm clock in the morning. That doesn't happen often anymore.

My breakfast once consisted of a bottle of cream soda and a sack of salted peanuts. Frances taught me that country scrambled eggs and hot tea are just as digestible. Through her I learned how wonderful well-cooked food can be — that it can be fun as well as a fuel.

I have learned not to go into the kitchen and dry my hands on the dish towels. (This took years.) I wear slippers now. Instead of running around the house barefoot.

I no longer wipe my nose on the Strike on Four Railways Set for Thursday

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP) — The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen today called a strike on four major railroads to begin at 3 p. m. (local standard time) Thursday.

President David B. Robertson said a work stoppage is "the only course left open to obtain long overdue increases in wages and improved working conditions."

All major railroads have been under government seizure for some time. This makes the employees technically government workers, and the government quit probably will seek a court injunction to stop the strike before it begins.

Failure to obey a court order would lay the union and its leaders open to contempt penalties.

The strike was termed a "progressive" one, meaning that while the walkout initially was to affect four key railroads and their subsidiaries, other rail systems could be struck later.

The four lines on which the walkout Thursday was ordered are: Chicago and Northwestern railway.

Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis.

Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Louisville and Nashville railroad.

The union represents 105,000 rail firemen, enginemen and yardmen, but only a maximum of 75,000 of these members are affected in the current dispute. The union announced Oct. 24 that a membership vote favored a strike 10 to one.

Robertson said that for 13 months there has been a deadlock on demands for a general wage increase for all its members and a 40-hour week for men in yard service. The latter now work a 48-hour week.

The union's most recent demand have been for an 18 1/2 cents hourly general increase, plus an additional 15 1/2 cents hourly for men in yard service until such time as the 40-hour work week is adopted in the yard service.

The carriers had offered to meet substantially the union's money demands but had insisted on working rule changes to which the union objected.

Two other unions, also involved in the same dispute, have taken no steps toward a strike. They are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Order of Railway Conductors. Their leaders have refused to say whether their members would cross picket lines if the firemen's strike begins.

One Arrested Following Wreck

Calvin Douglas, Hope negro, was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way by Hope City Police following an accident at Second and Walnut Streets involving an auto driven by Henry Gray. Minor damage resulted.

Trees for Tomorrow's Forests

To meet the growing demands for planting stock, nurseries like the one above are producing more and more tree seedlings. The Arkansas Resources and Development Commission Nursery at Bluff City expects to produce about 25,000 Loblolly and Shortleaf pine seedlings for sale to landowners this planting season. Pine tree seedlings may be secured from the Arkansas Resources and Development Commission for $2.50 per thousand trees. For convenience to farmers, orders may be submitted through any of the local agricultural agencies or Hope Chamber of Commerce. Orders should be placed immediately as planting season will start in a short time.

St. Louis Buried Under 11 Inch Snow

St. Louis, Nov. 6 (AP) — St. Louis was buried under 11 inches of snow today in its greatest 24-hour snow storm in 30 years—the fifth heaviest in St. Louis history.

Traffic was stalled throughout the city and the snow continued to pile up at the rate of an inch an hour. The weather bureau saw little prospect of a letup later in the day.

Buses were running behind schedule and were not getting through at all on some lines. Automobiles were abandoned on scores of streets. Thousands of persons were late to work or unable to get there at all.

Highways were all but impassable. The Missouri highway patrol urged everyone to stay off the highways except in emergency.

Traffic is stalling at nearly every hill, the patrol reported. "The snow, in places is too heavy for the snow plows to clear."

The snow storm, which started about 5 p.m. yesterday is the city's greatest for this early in the year. In 14 hours twice as much snow had fallen than during the combined years of 1931 and 1932.

The weather bureau said the storm belt extends from southwest Missouri to the St. Louis area.

Miss Grace M. Consey, 24, was struck and killed by a bus in downtown St. Louis last night shortly after the storm started.

The weather bureau said the fall totaled about 11 inches through the entire snow belt, including Springfield, Mo., Vichy, Mo., and Belleville, Ill.

Deer Hunters in Three Hempstead Towns Organize

A deer hunting club was organized Saturday, November 3, at the home of Bob Caldwell at Columbus and includes hunters from Saratoga, Ozan and Columbus.

Mr. Caldwell was named chairman and Guy Green was elected secretary and treasurer.

The group passed a resolution pledging the membership to do everything possible to protect the animals and to report any man caught shooting deer unlawfully.

Rev. Hardegree Named President of District

Wm. P. Hardegree, pastor of the First Christian Church, was elected president of the Southwest District of Arkansas Christian Churches at the District Convention, Monday, Nov. 5th at Gordon.

He will serve for one year and be in charge of the Convention in the fall of 1952. Other officers that were elected were: Vice-president, Mrs. Mason Moore of Camden, secretary, Mrs. Morris Rommel of Benton.

Those attending the Convention in Gordon yesterday were: Mrs. Oliver Adams, Mrs. J. F. Gorin, and Mrs. Wm. P. Hardegree.

WOUNDS FATAL

San Francisco, Nov. 6 (AP) — Katherine Reynolds, shot after an argument over a pickled pig's feet, died Monday after living more than three weeks with two bullets in her head.

Mrs. Reynolds, 79, was shot Oct. 11 after she objected to her husband's buying pigs' feet rather than pigs' tails.

Police Inspector Tom Cahill said her husband, John, shot Mrs. Reynolds then killed himself.

Reds Want to End Fighting Without Truce

Munsun, Korea, Nov. 6 (AP) — The United Nations command spokesmen said today the Reds want to call off the fighting in Korea without signing a formal armistice.

The U. N., he said, will have none of that.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckolls, the spokesman, told newsmen the Reds tipped their hand Tuesday when they rejected the latest Allied proposal. That was an offer Monday to set aside the so-called cease-fire buffer zone issue for the moment and take up other items that must be settled before a formal armistice can be signed.

The Reds demanded, Nuckolls said, immediate "final, formal solution" of the buffer zone matter before proceeding to the rest of the agenda.

Nuckolls said he felt the Reds allow a de facto cease-fire — an end to the fighting without formal agreement — and let armistice talks drag on indefinitely.

Nuckolls said he felt the Reds were tired and final. Asked how firm he thought it was, Nuckolls replied: "Only time will say how irrevocable it is."

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodges, chief of the U. N. buffer zone subcommittee, told newsmen immediately after Tuesday's single session he thought the turn down was "not a final, formal, irrevocable rejection."

Nuckolls said that in rejecting the Allied offer, the Reds asserted once a buffer zone was established it would be a mark of "bad faith" for either side to change the boundary of the area by military operations.

There was speculation the Reds wanted an official armistice. (1) to get relief from Allied air bombardings, (2) because it might put down a great amount of the U.S. available military forces, and (3) because they can't stand another U. N. offensive.

Nuckolls said the only possibility that makes the Reds keep talking is "continuing pressure of possible hostilities."

An afternoon session was cancelled, presumably so the Reds could study further the four-point Allied program. The subcommittee will meet again at 11 a. m. tomorrow (8 p.m. CST Tuesday).

In the battles, Chinese infantrymen captured a third hill on the expanding front and held two other peaks against Allied counterattacks.

The Reds won three other hills but lost them again.

The three-day-old Red offensive hit United Nations forces on points west of Yoncheon, eight miles north of the 38th parallel, to the hills north of Chorwon, western anchor of their old iron triangle.

Guardsmen Need to Hike Membership

The local National Guard unit needs three or more new members in order to maintain its minimum strength requirement.

Due to guardsmen enlisting in the army the strength of the company has been reduced considerably. The unit now has positions available for all enlisted grades and officers.

Men of Company A, make no apologies for the fact that the infantry is in fact, the oldest branch of the army.

The oldest branch of the army is the backbone of the entire military setup. The national guard is the oldest military organization in the U. S., older than the army itself.

A guardsmen the "old army" has many opportunities. They are four paid drills, a national association with other guardsmen, training with combat veterans, experienced in the skill which is necessary in order for a soldier to survive in battle.

A guardsmen may also find his rank to any heights. The highest rank in the military is that of a National Guardsman. Hope, but it is vital to the U. S. if Company "A" of the 108th Infantry was at full strength of 180 men and officers it would bring into the U. S. nearly $20,000 yearly in defense.

Reds Observe Anniversary of Revolution

Moscow, Nov. 6 (AP) — People throughout the Soviet union prepared today for a two-day holiday celebrating the 34th anniversary of the Red revolution.

Highlights of the nation celebration will be—as in past years—the vast military and workers' parade through Red square tomorrow morning, opening day of the anniversary fete.

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, top commander against the Japanese and leader of Russian forces in the Trans-Baikal Amur area of Manchuria in World War II, will review the parade.

Such parades in the past have served as a demonstration of Soviet military strength. Troops, tanks and artillery roll past in review before top military men, members of the politburo and other high government officials.

Moscow already has been decked with crimson bunting and scarlet flags in preparation for the big day. All schools, factories, offices and stores will be closed Wednesday and Thursday. Millions of workers on collective and state farms will have the two days off.

Tonight—the eve of the anniversary—high Soviet government and Communist party officials are expected to gather at Moscow's Bolshoi theater to hear a speech of major importance by a high official. The speaker has not been announced.

Last year the keynote address was made by Deputy Premier Nikolai Bulganin, who bespoke high praise for the Chinese Communists as a "mighty people fighting actively for peace."

President Truman is scheduled to make a major foreign policy address to the American nation Wednesday night. Western observers here wondered if this had not been timed to answer the Moscow address.

Legion Auxiliary to Sell Poppies Here Saturday

Saturday November 10, will be Poppy Day in Hope, it was announced by Mrs. Mary Sue Evans of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Most of the millions of poppies which are made for the Auxiliary each year are made by veterans in hospitals. And in many instances veterans outside of hospitals make poppies.

Money from the sale of the poppies is used to benefit disabled war veterans and their families throughout the nation.

All during the day Saturday young girls will sell the poppies throughout the downtown area. Buy one and help a needy veteran to help himself.

Cale PTA to Dine Prescott Kiwanis Club

Cale PTA will entertain the Kiwanis Club of Prescott with a check on dinner Nov. 8.

The program to be presented includes folk dancing by Cale High students, accordion and vocal solos by Mrs. Lera Johnson and Mr. Joe T. Smith of Prescott. Proceeds of the dinner will go to Cale School.

Three More Escape Industrial School

Pine Bluff, Nov. 5 (AP) — Another group of inmates has escaped from the Arkansas Boys Industrial School.

Three youths left the school yesterday. One of them had just been recaptured after an escape last week.

Pine Bluff Police Chief Mel Gallagher identified the missing inmates as One Lee Donnelly, 17, of Pochahontas, Donald Star, 16, of Fayetteville and Eugene (Pucky) Cameron, 17.

Chief Gallagher said Cameron was returned to the school Saturday after his escape the day before. Cameron was arrested at nearby Dew Drop.

Urges Use of A-Bombs on Chinese

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP) — Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) today urged use of atomic weapons against the Communists in Korea and said the possibility of retaliation by Russia is "too absurd to consider."

Johnson, a member of the senate house atomic energy committee, spoke out against the background of the latest series of atomic tests in Nevada. He declined to discuss information he has about the outcome of those tests, except to say they showed "great progress" in building America's atomic might.

The Colorado lawmaker told reporters he saw "no conflict at all" between his call for use of atomic weapons in Korea and his statement last night that the small countries of the United Nations must strike a hard blow for Korean peace right now before it is forever too late.

In that statement, Johnson said the United States and the other great U.N. powers have made only "feeble efforts to end the violence" in Korea and had "forfeited the trust" placed in them. He added that the small nations should insist that the U.N. general assembly convening in Paris tomorrow remain in session "until a just solution is found."

Johnson said those views and his advocacy of atomic warfare against the Communists in Korea are compatible because "we ought to conduct the war there on an all-out or a get-out basis, one or the other."

Then he declared:

"I would use the atomic bomb over there if I had my way. I think it could be used to great advantage."

Although Johnson talked of the A-bomb, he made it clear that he was not excluding any atomic variation of that weapon which may have been tested in Nevada. Those tests reportedly involved weapons suited for tactical field use against enemy troops as distinguished from A-bombs employed strategically against industry concentrations, for example.

Asked whether use of atomic weapons in Korea might bring retaliation by Russia, Johnson replied:

"I think the possibility of that is too absurd to consider. The Russians might someday use the atomic bomb against us in this country, but it won't be for such a reason as that."

"As a matter of fact, I think our using it in Korea might be one big reason why they wouldn't use it against us at all. Don't forget the Russians have a great respect for our atomic bomb, despite their own achievement of atomic explosions."

Accounting of Arms May Be U. S. Request

Paris, Nov. 5 (AP) — The United States was reliably reported today to have decided to propose a world-wide arms census including a complete accounting of atomic weapons.

The U. S. plan, which will be placed before the United Nations assembly here this week, calls for a strict system of verification for the atomic accounting. This may prove to be the stumbling block which could hold up indefinitely any chance of the U. S. and Russia, informed quarters said the arms proposal was the heart of the reported peace plan which President Truman will announce Wednesday night and which Secretary of State Dean Acheson will lay before the United Nations assembly perhaps on Thursday.

Inclusion of atomic weapons in the proposed arms census represents a drastic change in U. S. policy. The census question has been before the U. N. since 1946, but was blocked by the Russian veto because the U. S. refused to include atomic weapons.

Word of the U. S. policy shift leaked out as the 60-nation assembly prepared to launch its 10th meeting here tomorrow. The U. S. was reported asking Britain and France to support its new peace formula, aimed to beat Russia to the peace punch before the Soviets have a chance to renew their expected peace offensive.

The main points of the arms census are expected to be:

1. A U. N. demand upon all countries for a complete accounting of all troops and weapons.
2. An international system for sending inspectors into any country to make first-hand verification of the figures submitted.

In the past, Russia has agreed in general terms to accept a system of inspection of atomic facilities, but her terms were never spelled out in concrete form.

The Russian idea — as stated in previous declarations — was for inspectors to be admitted periodically to established facilities. The Russians never have said they would give completely free access to U. N. inspectors to travel about the Soviet union at will.

The arms census plan is intended as a preliminary step toward general reduction of armaments and armed forces.

Election May Indicate Trend

Washington, Nov. 5 (UP) — Republicans and Democrats will watch a handful of scattered elections tomorrow for signs of a trend in next year's presidential election.

Four congressmen, the governors of Kentucky and Mississippi, and municipal officers in more than 40 cities will be elected tomorrow.

Most of the campaigns have been waged on purely local issues. But Republicans will claim national significance if they manage to capture a house seat in Ohio's third district or the Kentucky governorship. The GOP has an outside chance in both of these elections.

The Democrats will be considerably encouraged if they can capture the mayoralty of Philadelphia, a Republican stronghold since the Civil war.

The Philadelphia campaign between Joseph S. Clark, Jr., and the Rev. Daniel A. Poling, Republican candidate, got bitter during the closing days, with charges of corruption hurled by both sides.

The internal revenue bureau scandals were injected into the Kentucky governorship race by hecklers at speeches made by Vice President Allen W. Barkley on behalf of Democratic Gov. Lawrence Wetherby. The Republican candidate is Eugene Siler, and attorney and Baptist lay preacher.

Some of the elections will be no contest at all. The Republicans didn't put up a candidate in Mississippi, where former Gov. Hugh White (1935-39) will become the first man to win the office twice since the late Theodore G. Hilda.

The Democrats didn't offer a candidate for congress in Pennsylvania's eighth district to oppose Republican Earl C. King, Morrisville farmer.

The Republicans' best chance to gain a house seat is in Ohio's third district, where Democratic Rep. Edward Breen has resigned. The Republican candidate is Paul F. Schenck, whom Breen beat last year by 15,000 votes, and the Democratic candidate is Jesse Yoder, a member of the state legislature.

In the other two congressional races, Republican Frank C. Osmer, Jr., has an edge on Democrat Evelyn Seufert in the ninth New Jersey district and Republican Joseph L. Carrig looks like a sure winner over Democrat Paul

Hunting Deaths Bring Toll to 19

By The Associated Press

Two week-end deaths from hunting accidents brought to 19 the fatality toll in Arkansas since last Monday.

The victims were Verlie Lee Collier, 51, of Rector, and Earl Wade Beckwith, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Beckwith of near Bald Knob. Collier died in a Paragould hospital Saturday of shotgun wounds he suffered earlier in the week while on a hunting trip alone near Rector. Collier was shot when his gun discharged.

Young Beckwith was found in the woods near his home Sunday. He had been shot in the head by his shotgun. He died en route to a hospital. Coroner Elvis Daniel said the youngster's gun apparently discharged accidentally when he attempted to lift it from a stump. He was hunting alone, also.

Columnist Must Tell of Spot

Los Angeles, Nov. 6 (AP) — Columnist Florabel Muir will have to tell Franchot Tene's lawyer about that little set-to at a night club.

Tene got a court order yesterday directing Muir to give testimony Nov. 18 at the office of Tene's attorney. Tene said he is considering a suit for invasion of his right of privacy and will require the testimony.

Miss Muir, he said, "falsely accused the petitioner of being in possession of and being under the influence of narcotics." She made this charge, he said, to deputies the night of the quarrel, Oct. 29.

Miss Muir made a "citizen's arrest" of Tene, saying he had split in her face and kicked her shins. At the same time, Tene said, she made the narcotics accusation. The actor said medical tests made immediately at his insistence, proved he was not under the influence of narcotics.

Tene also asked that testimony be obtained from Miss Muir and others about the "unlawful and fraudulent" recordings of telephone conversations between him and Barbara Payton before their recent marriage.

He said the recording was made over the telephone of Elizabeth Cosgriff, who shared a party line with Miss Payton. Testimony about this incident will be taken Nov. 20, the court said.

Miss Emily Jo Wilson, bride-elect of Lt. John Bissell, was complimented with a gift tea given by Mrs. W. I. Stroud and Mrs. R. E. Jackson in the home of the former on Saturday afternoon, November 3, from 3 until 5 o'clock.

Mrs. A. D. Brannan greeted the guests at the door and introduced them to the receiving line, which included the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Joe Wilson of Columbus, Mrs. W. E. Bissell of Nashville, mother of the bridegroom-elect, and the hostesses.

Miss Wilson wore an afternoon frock of rosewood chintilly lace. Pinned at her waist was a white feathered chrysanthemum corsage. Throughout the reception rooms autumn flowers were placed at points of vantage. The mantel in the living room held deep pink radiance roses, which reflected in the overhanging mirror. Radiance roses were also placed on the coffee table.

Miss Norma Jean Franks and Mrs. Noel James of Lewisville invited the guests into the dining room.

Overlaid with a white hand crocheted cloth, the serving table was centered with an arrangement of yellow roses flanked by silver candelabra holding yellow tapers. Bronze and yellow pom mums were placed on the buffet.

King Says Inflation Real Threat

London, Nov. 6 (AP) — King George VI warned parliament today that growing inflation threatens Britain's defense program and the government must take "drastic action."

Prime Minister Winston Churchill's new Conservative regime will make proposals to fight inflation in the immediate future, said the monarch in his traditional speech from the throne opening the first formal session of the new parliament.

Churchill was scheduled to elaborate on the speech — which the prime minister and his cabinet had prepared — late today.

Since the king is still confined to Buckingham palace recuperating from a serious lung operation, the speech was read for him at a joint meeting of the houses of lords and commons, held in the lords' chamber.

The king told parliament that a "full disclosure must be made to the nation" of the recent serious deterioration in Britain's economic affairs.

He described the problem as "overshadowing all other domestic matters" which face the new government.

Turning to international affairs, King George said Britain is determined to stand fast in the Suez Canal zone and "will try to repair the injuries our rights and interests have suffered in Persia."

The king said Egypt's attempts to oust British troops from the canal zone and seize sovereignty over the Sudan, now jointly administered by Egypt and Britain, are "illegal and without validity."

He said Britain, the United States, France and Turkey will "press forward with their proposals for joint defense arrangements in the Middle East."

Under this proposal, already once rejected by Cairo, the four powers and Egypt would enter into a joint defense arrangement for the vital canal zone, he said.

Meanwhile, the king asserted, Britain "will maintain its position in the canal zone under the terms of the 1936 treaty, and will safeguard the international highway."

He said also that "nothing can be allowed to interfere with the rights of the Sudanese to decide for themselves the future status of their country."

The king said the government "will faithfully support the United Nations as a world instrument for peace and security."

"They (the government) will continue to play their part in Korea," he added, "with the aim of restoring peace and well-being."

MCCARRAN IMPROVING

Reno, Nov. 6 (AP) — U. S. Senator McCarran is showing some improvement but probably will have to remain hospitalized at least another three weeks, his physician reported today.

McCarran, 75, was stricken last week with a heart condition.

DOROTHY DIX

Security or Love?

Dear Miss Dix: For two years I have been going with a boy who is a hard worker, very considerate and very good to me. He has asked me to marry him but I hesitated because I want security.

This summer I met a man who is my idea of the right one for me. He has security and is established in a career. I don't love him but feel in time I could. He has also asked me to marry him; he is a lot older than my other boy friend. What should I do?

Urged to Market Cotton Carefully

Scott, Miss., Nov. 6 (AP) — In a drive to keep cotton prices up, planters have been urged to be careful how they market their crop.

The beltwide cotton producers committee yesterday wired cotton-belt farm leaders that the committee's "orderly marketing" program could be jeopardized by wholesale selling.

C. R. Sayre, chairman, said the committee "suggests all cotton growers continue selling a portion of their crop, but not more than 25 per cent of baleage they have on hand at any particular time."

The market has advanced from 34 to 39 cents a pound since the committee inaugurated its marketing campaign in New Orleans last August.

Marines to Get New Leader

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP) — President Truman has named a new top boss for the marines, effective Jan. 1.

He is Lt. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., whose fighting career takes in World War I and II battles that have become modern marine legends — Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel, Okinawa.

Mr. Truman named Shepherd to succeed Gen. Clifton B. Cates, at the end of Cates' four-year tour of duty as marine commander.

One star will probably be taken from Cates, and given to Shepherd, to make him the marines' only full general while he is commandant. Cates will be assigned other duty, as yet unannounced.

Shepherd, 55 years old, led the marines who captured Guam, and later commanded the Sixth Division on Okinawa.

Shepherd took part in on-the-spot planning for the landing at Inchon which led to the United Nations breakthrough in North Korea last year.

DUTCH PREMIER INVITED

Amsterdam, The Netherlands, Nov. 6 (AP) — An Amsterdam newspaper reported today that President Truman plans to invite Dutch Premier Willem Drees to confer with him in Washington.

The U. S. correspondent of the newspaper De Telegraaf said Drees would be asked to meet with Truman because of Holland's importance to plans for the economic and political integration of Western Europe.

him but feel in time I could. He has also asked me to marry him; he is a lot older than my other boy friend. What should I do?

Answer: The great trouble with love is that it does not come or go at bidding. You cannot say, "This man is very nice, and in time I will love him." Things just don't work out that way, as a rule. It is possible that you might marry a man for his money and through kindness and devotion he could ultimately win your heart. The situation, however, presents too many "ifs." Waiting should be done before marriage, not after.

You don't even say you do love the boy you went with for so long. Your feeling for him may be nothing but a complacent acceptance of his many kindnesses. If you really loved him, you wouldn't even consider marriage to another.

You'd Better Wait
I think you're a long way from loving either man. Better hold off all momentous decision until the right one comes along—the one you'll love so much you can't even think of anyone else.

If this knight in shining armor isn't able to offer, remember these things can come through effort. You'll get far more satisfaction from luxuries you have earned with the man you love than from a secure existence with an unloved mate.

Dear Miss Dix: I am very much in love with a young lady of fine character, jovial and full of life. She also is the owner of a successful business. I am of a quiet, studious and serious nature. Jokingly she asks me when I intend to marry — yet when I get serious she just laughs it off.

When I keep away from her she calls me up and is so sweet I can't help forgiving her. What do you think of her — and why does she act that way?

MAC.
Answer: Your lady fair just has not made up her mind yet whether to be a career girl or the domestic type. You could be very firm and demand that she make up her mind forthwith — which will probably scare her off altogether; or you can exercise a little more patience. She very apparently is afraid of losing you, hence the phone calls when you ignore her. She is also afraid of losing the independence for which she has probably worked very hard. Try to pin her down to a serious discussion of your future together, if she continues to laugh the matter off, and you really care for her, wait awhile.

Dear Miss Dix: About six weeks ago I had a quarrel with my girl friend, we had gone steady for seven months. She is 17 and I am a year older. She said she didn't want to see me any more. At first I didn't care too much and began to go with other girls, but I soon found out she was the one and only for me. I have called her several times and apologized for everything I did but she still insists she doesn't want to go with me. I am certain she still loves me, and I love her.

C. R. L.
Answer: Since your girl friend has given every evidence of not loving for you any more, what makes you think she still loves you? You are both too young to steady anyway, and perhaps she realizes that. Also, the cause of the quarrel may have given her cause to doubt your compatibility. Better accept her decision.

It has a Way with Women

SOMETIMES we think that too little attention is given to the fair sex in automobile advertising.

After all, it's the woman of the house who has to do most of the shopping, which involves getting into tight places at the curb. And it's surprising what tight spots a Buick can fit into at a turn of the wheel.

It's the woman who likes complete freedom from things that it takes an engineer to operate—and a complete and utter freedom from mechanical complications is exactly what makes Dynaflo Drive® such a joy.

It's the woman who has an eye for style and fine fabrics—and a nose for economy. On both counts, a Buick is tops.

But we suspect something else. We suspect that a woman gets just as great a lift as a man from commanding this great-powered and trigger-quick bundle of vitality to bow to her will.

Here's a car to win any woman's heart—by its level-gaited stride—its willing response to her hand on the wheel—its smart style and its smart performance—its spaciousness and comfort—and its thrift.

How about taking time off, some afternoon, to boss around a Buick? It's a date that's bound to thrill you.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—George
"The Jumper" Ratterman rejoins the football Yanks today, after a season in Canada, and Coach Jimmy Phelan doesn't know what he's going to do with the guy.
Though Ratterman did have a 12 per cent average of completions last year and pitched 22 touchdowns, Phelan points out he also had 24 interceptions. And Jimmy already has a football jumper in Bob Cleary. "What's more, Jimmy points out, pro football has changed a lot in the last few years.
When Ratterman first attracted attention it was because of his taking. They said he was better than Frankie Albert and all that," Phelan says. "You can't get away with that any more. Those converging defenses—the Eagles' defense I call it—close in on you and by the time you make two or three fakes, they're sitting on you.
So you've got to go into a spread and then they have to get those 225-pound linebackers out and put in some faster men." The Yanks, and most other teams, continue to use the "T."
Jimmy adds, but gosh, how the thing has changed.

Hue Nuda It

The ultimate refinement in the platform system of football is reported from Elkhorn County High school, near Frankfort, Ky.

Coach Allen Parr has only 13 players on his squad, he puts the right side of his line on offense and moves the left side into a defensive "platform" against it. Then reverses the setup to try plays to the left side. . . . What a spot to try a naked reverse.

One-Minute Sports Page

Jack Lavelle, the rotund football scout, tabs Princeton's Charlie Caldwell as "young Neyland," but he still doesn't understand why Caldwell risked an injury to Dick Kavanaugh by using him so much in the mud against Brown. First ticket order received for the Geary Gerard Memorial basketball game between North Carolina and Duke, Dec. 5, came from a Shreveport, La., woman who wrote: "I think this ball game is the most wonderful idea I ever heard of." . . . Proceeds are to help pay for the education of Gerard's daughters.

Confusion Item: Manager Ken Kiercher, checking the Lehigh runners in a cross country meet in passing, Stan Williams of Hayler in press-receiving. Val Jo Walker of Southern Methodist in punt returns and Ray McKown of Texas Christian in putting.

Isabel replaced Fred Benner of Southern Methodist in passing. The Benner field general has completed 65 throws in 141 tries for 881 yards and seven touchdowns. Benner fell to second with 71 connections in 140 throws for 807 yards and five touchdowns.

Williams supplanted Bill Howton of Rice in pass receiving. The Bayler wideback has caught 23 for 341 yards. Howton is second with 16 for 440.

Walker moved ahead of Johnny Cole of Arkansas in punt returns with three for 100 yards on average of 33.3. Cole fell to third with 10 for 171 yards and Yale Larry of A.
and M. stayed in second place with 18 for 207.

Isabel still is the total offense leader with 893 yards on 167 plays while Lamar McLean of Arkansas went into second place with 881 yards on 171 plays.

McKown moved to the top in putting with an average of 39.8 yards on 17 kicks. Jerry Norborn of Southern Methodist fell to second with 39.7.

Glenn Lippman of A. and M. held onto his lead in ball-carrying. The Aggie halfback has gained 321 yards on 177 carries. McLean is second with 457 on 95.

A. and M. leads in team offense with an average of 368.7 yards per game. Texas is the leader defensively, giving up 213.7 yards per game. Arkansas is second with 217.7.

Sprecher, 37, heard the cries and started casting his 36-point test line into the surf at the thrashing swimmer. Three times he whipped it out, and on the third try the weighted line rolled around Stul's body.

Nevertheless, the fisherman reeled in the line slowly so that it would not snap Stul's, a 160-pound metal worker, was pulled in 50 yards to a rock embankment in a semiconscious state.

Sprecher said Stul's "was my first catch."

El Dorado, Nov. 5 (AP)—A two-state pickup alarm has been broadcast for the arrest of a young prisoner who tricked the wife of the Union county jailer into freeing him.

Sheriff O. E. Bishop said he had asked law enforcement officers in south Arkansas and north Louisiana to be on the alert for the Greer of Holland, O.

Greer, 19, was sentenced to two years in the Arkansas penitentiary for burglarizing a store here last month. He was awaiting transportation to the prison when he escaped
Saturday afternoon.

Sheriff Bishop said bloodhounds brought her yesterday from Tex-arkana, tracked Greer south from the jail but then lost the trail.

The highway leads to Louisiana.
